USAF Needs Therapists; Occupational-Physical

Master Sergeant James P. LeFevre, local Air Force recruiter, announced today that the Air Force is facing a rising demand for qualified applicants to enter the Air Force Medical Specialist Corps.

Sergeant LeFevre emphasized the fact that occupational therapists, physical therapists and dietitians are needed and, upon acceptance, are commissioned in grades commensurate with age, education and professional experience. Qualified applicants, enter active duty in their commissioned grades and enjoy the same pay and benefits as other Air Force officers of equal rate.

Air Force medical specialists work with the most modern equipment available in an atmosphere that is thoroughly professional. A variety of duty assignments are available, both in the United States and overseas, offering an excellent opportunity for travel.

Educational requirements for occupational and physical therapists are a bachelor's degree and a certificate showing completion of an occupational or physical therapy course. Dietiticians must possess a bachelor's degree and a certificate showing completion of dietetic internship. Additional information concerning the medical specialist program may be obtained from Sergeant LeFevre by phoning FAirfax 8-1404 or by visiting the Air Force Recruiting office at 1319 1/2 Satori Ave., Torrance.

Incompetence and negligence behind the wheel have prevailed too long and at too great a price for everyone. Judson B. Branch, president of Allstate Insurance Companies, declared recently.
